

CURLY BOBBLES SCARF

I've been enjoying working with my Curly Shirley patters lately, and then added my Bibbity Bobbity Boo cardi to the mix, so it was time to try combining the two stitches, to see what I could do!

And here's the result – a curly, bobbly scarf, which is extra-warm due to being doubled over bobbles along the length.

I've made the scarf relatively short (75cm/29" end to end, excluding curls), but have made a hole near one end to slip the other end through, doing away with the need for length to wrap around.

And now, onto the pattern!

Finishing

With wrong sides facing (bobbles facing out), join row 24 to row 1 – I used a slip stitch down the length, but you can use whatever works for you.

The two holes you have made in the length of the scarf will match up – slip stitch around these to join together.

Slip one end of the scarf through the hole at the other end, and wrap it around a cute neck for winter.
